WE NOMINATE

Hans Friedrich Winterkorn, one of the eminent and unsung scientists of the Princeton Community, who over the course of the past quarter-century has been primarily responsible for the development of what is now recognized as a full-fledged branch of engineering science—soil stabilization. While only a handful of laymen are aware of soil stabilization, and science writers play fast and loose with such terms as "plasticizing soil" and "chemically toughened dirt," this new science is dedicated to providing the knowledge and tools for making the best possible use of surface soils and sands in building more and better roads, airports, houses and other structures so urgently needed in many parts of the world.

It was in 1943, when Winterkorn, now 49 years old, was called to Princeton from the University of Missouri, that Princeton University established the first Soil Mechanics Laboratory and inaugurated the first course anywhere on the chemical and physical behavior of soils and their possible stabilizers. Up to that point there had been scattered, slap-dash efforts to improve the qualities of soil employed in the construction of secondary roads but not until Winterkorn and his associates were given hearings—in the face of war pressures—was it realized that soils could be so treated that in the space of several hours the softest and sandiest surfaces could be converted into landing-strips and traffic-bearing roads.

Thrice since V-J Day Winterkorn, the son of a German architect and a naturalized citizen for some 17 years, has attracted wide attention with his researches.

In 1947 the Navy, seeking to prevent re-occurrences of the losses sustained on the beaches of Iwo Jima, announced that a series of "Winterkorn experiments" would enable it to transform an ocean beach into a firm landing-area in two or three hours. A year later Winterkorn told the American Chemical Society how advances in soil stabilization would permit low-cost roads, capable of withstanding pressures better than concrete, while this past week in Washington, D. C., he "chaired" the first international symposium ever devoted to the new science.

A rebuff from the Army in World War II dramatized his pre-eminence in his field. Winterkorn, a consultant to highway authorities on three continents, suggested to the Army that soil stabilization could be of tremendous value in building military bases and road-nets. The Army thought not but shortly thereafter turned to three research agencies for help. The report from the first of the favored three was termed "too abstruse." The findings submitted by the other two included bibliographies on the subject, which attributed 50 standard works to Winterkorn and an average of 1.8 to any other authority. It cost the Army time and $300,000 to find that soil stabilization and Winterkorn were synonymous.

For serving as a pioneer and guide in the development of new knowledge; for skillfully organizing and utilizing the assistance extended by representatives of other sciences and disciplines; for insisting that quality, and never quantity, is the hallmark of true success in basic research; he is Town Topics' nominee for

YM-YW Drive Starts Tuesday.
An address by Governor Meyner will highlight a dinner Tuesday evening in Dillon Gymnasium which will launch the fund-raising campaign to build Princeton's new joint YMCA-YWCA building.
Some 600 volunteers will carry on a campaign for community support for the new building through February 10.

John P. Wooldridge, general chairman of the drive to raise $750,000 for the proposed "community house," announced this week that in addition to Governor Meyner's address, the volunteers will hear brief remarks from President Harold W. Dodds, officials of the Borough and Township, and Edward D'Arms, a student at Princeton High, who will present the viewpoint of the youth of the community.

In addition, Harry M. Bowser of Gulick Road, a consultant in sales and promotion, and Homer Gould, of the National Council of YMCA's, will outline the aims and

Juveniles in Trouble

Based on the number of crimes committed, Princeton is not faced with the degree of juvenile delinquency that confronts many another community in the nation. But in the annual report of Police Chief John H. Smith, submitted to the mayor and council this week, juveniles (those under 18) were listed as involved in these offenses during 1954:

False fire alarms, 2; petit larceny, 3; grand larceny, 3; Peeping Tom, 1; larceny of automobiles, 2; damage to property, 3, and attempted rape, 2. Their elders were likewise charged with these crimes, as well as with others ranging in severity from murder (1) to burglary (12), issuing worthless checks (12), grand larceny (23); gambling
(2) and disorderly conduct (65.)

methods of the drive. Dr. Charles R. Erdman will pronounce the invocation and Justice A. Dayton Oliphant will introduce those sitting at the head table.

Residents of the community will be asked to make pledges to be paid over a three-year period.
The new building will replace the three separated and badly overcrowded YM and YW centers now in operation.

A scale model of the "community house" was unveiled at Palmer Square and Nassau Street on Saturday by two schoolchildren, Margaret Harbison and John Frederiksen. Mayor P. Mac-Kay Sturges proclaimed the period through February 10 as
"YMCA-YWCA Time—a time to give help to our children when they need that help most." He called for community-wide support for the campaign "to provide desirable and necessary facilities" for the two service and recreation organizations.

mittee has begun its drive under the chairmanship of James Carey.

Bus Struggle Renewed. More than two dozen disturbed citizens helped pack Township Hall to overflowing Monday night in order to voice once again their objections to the routes planned for the operation of free bus service by merchants of the Shopping Center.

Despite the fact that a resolution granting permission for temporary operation is a matter of record, a full hour of the regular Township Committee meeting was devoted to objections to the routing of buses through residential streets, narrow streets, to opinions on the Township's entire problem of traffic control, and to the way in which the revised bus routes were adopted.

During the main discussion, no one spoke from the floor on behalf of the proposed routes and at one point 25 hands were raised by those in objection. While there was no motion to rescind the permission, members of the Township Committee made it clear that if better routes can be determined, they will be planned before the bus service begins operation.

Committeeman Richard H. Wood said he was "persuaded that the people are very much opposed" in suggesting that study of possible route changes be started immediately. The committee held to its position, however, that the temporary operation will help determine if there is a basic need for public transportation in the 18-square mile municipality.

As yet, the Public Utilities Commission has not made a decision on the application of Tiger Bus Lines to operate the free service. The Borough Council has denied permission for the buses to pick up and discharge passengers within Borough limits.

One-Way Streets Created. Monday's meeting brought unanimous approval of an ordinance making traffic one-way on Western Way (westerly traffic only) and Southern Way (easterly traffic only) between Harrison Street and Cedar Lane.

The decision came after tallying of an unusual post card survey of the residents affected. Of 54 ballots mailed, 43 were returned, with 24 in favor of one—Continued on Page 4

Bounce. The Simmons mattress people, it seems, are celebrating their 55th anniversary. Just to prove that there's still plenty of bounce in the Simmons innerspring, they are celebrating with a new mattress which you may see advertised in this week's Life magazine and examine in person at Nassau Interiors, 162 Nassau.

The first thing you see is some fancy ticking with two shades of charcoal, pink and green bouquets and lots of green bows. Under the ticking there are 310 coils fashioned with a patented auto-lock device that gives every firm, all-over support.

The edges are sag-free, held by a pre-built border. Over the inner springs there is a layer of cotton felt and at the sides, eight ventilators to keep it in condition. $39.85 and a matching box spring is the same.

Here's a chair that's tricky to get out of, but incomparably comfortable once you're there. It comes from craftsmen in Vermont who made it of dark maple, along simple, utilitarian lines.

The trick about the chair is its height: it stands only five inches from the floor, like a beach rest, and the floor itself is your footstool. It would be in its element if you used it before a brace of blazing logs. The frame of the chair is connected by narrow strips of rawhide, so treated that they are almost transparent.

The rawhide has enough resiliency to make a comfortable back and seat, yet it's sturdier than cloth webbing. Chair is called a Swan chair and it costs $18.50.

In addition to the current interest in mattresses and floor chairs, Nassau Interiors is concerned these days with lamps, particularly the one from Lightolier. We found over 25 models from this company alone, some on pulleys hanging from ceiling or extending from wall, others with their bases firmly planted on the floor, still more designed as pin-ups or table lamps.

Prices range from $9.90 for a useful visor lamp that can hang on the wall or squat on your desk, to $87.50 for an ingenious pulley lamp that can be raised, lowered and probably, if you have young, swung on doddly like a trapeze. A new Lightolier that we liked is a pin-up with a slender jointed shaft that looks like a stork's leg. Turn it all ways; it adjusts at both knee and ankle. We saw it in both matte finish gunmetal gray and ivory white.

If you would like something less expensive than Lightolier, there are wall lamps from $3.98 to $12.99. Until the end of February, by the way, there will be a 10% reduction on all these lamps.

For a small dinette or even a livingroom, Nassau Interiors has a wall bar 30 inches long and deep enough to hold a quart bottle in its wrought iron rack. Open its drop shelf, secured by a brass chain, and you have a working space. Store your glasses on eight spindles at the back of the bar. The working surface of the shelf is treated for alcohol resistance, the side that shows to the room when the bar is closed, has a satin finish. The price is $22.50.

To Market, To Market. The shoppers at Princeton Gourmet, 180 Nassau, have found some French ceps, packed in caps for your most extravagant culinary adventures. Ceps, they tell us, are very special French mushrooms and you treat them with deference. You also do homage to truffles in butter, which Gourmet has, too.

Down on the level where we do our cooking, we found a product that has brought some pleasant variety to menus that are built around a rice base. It is saffron rice, whitish in its package but yellow and delicately flavored with saffron when it's cooked. Buy enough for three servings but don't cook it quite so long as the packages say—treat it like minute rice.

Saucy, if you are a gravy cook, makes foolproof gravies, smooth and uniformly successful.

Although we had heard of Sauvery many time, we didn't know that its use extends beyond the Sunday roast. It may be used as a base for chocolate, rum, cheese or cream sauces, too.

A copper trio from Bazar Francais has silt pepper and big dredge can for flour—a complete by-the-stove set in copper for $4.95. Also in copper is a new chatting dish with an efficient alcohol burner. In light tin tinning, it's $23.95, in a heavier tin it's $36, both two-quart size.

For an egg-eater buy a translucent horn egg spoon from France (75c each); your snail eater gets a three-inch pick with a tiny fork at the end of it and a horn knob handle. Why not spear a canape with one? A French cooking knife has one serrated edge, one sharp; the blades pivot around, hiding inside the handle when not in use. The knife costs $1.

Open Season in Prints. When Christmas is over, the print dresses come out, and you'll find them in good supply if you visit The Joan Shop, 63 Palmer Square.—Continued on Page 18

In other action, the Committee received word of the appointment of Charles K. Agle of Community Planning Associates at a fee of $2,500 to prepare a revised zoning ordinance for the Township. The proposed revision is due June 30.

The resignation of James D. Rosenberg from the police force to accept an opportunity in private business was accepted with regret. Mr. Rosenberg, a member of the department for four years, will leave on February 1.

In executive session, the committee considered a street maintenance bond ordinance (affecting developers) and began discussion of the redistribution of voting districts. District 4 now has 1,050 registered voters and District 2 has 856.

Beck Replaces Norton, C. McKim Norton has resigned as chairman of the Borough Planning Board in view of his appointment to the national commission in this field by President Eisenhower. He expects to be in Washington two days a week and will not have adequate time for his duties here, he told the mayor and council.

Named to replace him is Martin J. Beck of 30 Westcott Road. He served as Planning Board chairman immediately after the war, prior to an absence from Princeton several years. He will fill a term for Mr. Norton that runs until June 15, 1959.

First National Plans Branch. Plans for the eventual construction of a branch office at the corner of Nassau Street and Howell (on the eastern border of the borough and township) were made public this week by The First National Bank. The announcement was included in the annual report to the stockholders made by the chairman of the board of directors, Joseph S. Hoff.

Three acres of land at that location have been purchased by the bank. Mr. Hoff revealed. While plans are in a formative stage, they call for the inclusion of drive-in facilities, a new type of banking procedure that is expected to alleviate crowded conditions in the bank lobby on busy days. A full-fledged branch operation is anticipated, Mr. Hoff declared.

In commenting on another successful year completed by the bank, Mr. Hoff noted that "our capital stock of $200,000 is low in proportion to our growing deposits." He added that he plans to have the directors consider increasing the stock at their next meeting.

Promotions for Two

Two well-known members of the Princeton Police Department were advanced in rank this week. Sergeant Frank T. Bird (a patrolman until last fall) has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant and will serve directly under Chief John H. Smith.

Patrolman Peter J. McCrohan was advanced to the rank of sergeant. The promotions are effective on Saturday. Both men have been members of the force for the past 20 years.

month period by more than $2,139,000.

Bank activity was also greater in many respects, Mr. Poe revealed. Checking accounts rose by nearly 200 to 8,052, while 555 more savings accounts set the number in this category at 9,906. Cash received and paid out during the year totalled more than $45,800,000, some $3,100,000 more than in 1953.

Loans made to the Princeton area, an important banking service in assuring community growth, are "in excellent condition" Mr. Poe said, "with no credit problems of importance." He reported that a grand total of $5,982,886.12 is outstanding in mortgages written for 753 persons—nearly half of them under the G.I. Bill of Rights.

"To us," Mr. Poe declared, "they represent not a dollar total, but a record of families sheltered, saving for the day when they will own their homes free and clear, building up and strengthening the community." The 1,200 home loans made during the year also "tell of cars purchased, homes made more comfortable through improvements and appliances acquired; weddings, births, school bills financed, working capital provided, and illnesses and other financial problems met."

Earnings increased. Bank earnings for the year were higher, the president revealed, "due both to increased volume and the fact that better yields could be obtained in the bond market on our investments." They amounted to slightly over 12% on capital funds, or $74 per share after taxes. A substantial amount of this, Mr. Poe pointed out, is of a non-recurring nature, since it represents profits from sale of securities.

count, profit before taxes is figured at slightly under 1%, he said, and about .6 of 1% after taxes. "This shows on how narrow a mark up a bank has to operate," he commented, "and how important volume is to its successful operation."

As to the future, Mr. Poe felt that "reasonable fluctuations in the nation's economy should not alarm us: they are natural and to be expected. Whatever happens nation-wide," he concluded, "I am looking forward to a continued healthy growth in our local affairs, and, so long as we keep to the spirit of dedicated service which has built up our bank in the past, I do not fear that we shall fail to get our share of this growth, and develop with the community."

March of Dimes. More than 150 Princetonians, representing a number of local organizations, will serve as volunteer workers in this month's March of Dimes campaign, which for the second successive year is being sponsored by the 34-member Soroptimist International Club of Princeton, women's service club.

In seeking to surpass last winter's record-breaking total of $12,000, the Soroptimists have planned comprehensive coverage of the community. This week at a "kick-off luncheon" at the Nassau Tavern they outlined an all-out drive featuring a "Mothers' March," Mile-of-Dimes collections in key locations, the showing of motion picture trailers in the Playhouse and Garden Theatre and various special events.

Mrs. Cevillie O. Jones and Mrs. Edna G. Warren are the co-chairmen of the 1955 Princeton March of Dimes. Joseph Catelli, of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, is the treasurer, while Mrs. —Continued on Page 7

Florence Rockwell, president of the Soroptist Club and a member of the Mercer County Board of Directors of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, is heading the special gifts committee.

Those also serving as committee chairman or as directors of special projects: Mrs. Mary Gill Reef, Mrs. Ethel Perosetti, Miss Helen King, Miss Marguerite Barr, Dr. Miriam Reed, Mrs. Kay Sharp, Mrs. Anne Webster, Mrs. Velda Altieri, Mrs. Ruth Kleinberg, Howard Waywood, Mrs. Bertha Eisenmann, Martin Reef, Miss Lois Cooper and Mrs. Tilla Malins.

Court Action, Turner Stevens, 20, of 37 Leigh Avenue was arrested by Magistrate Paul R. Chesbro this week on a charge of breaking and entering. He was held without bail for action by the grand jury.

Stevens was accused of taking a pocketbook containing a small amount of money from the home of Wells Hobler, 50 Allison Road. Patrolman Stanley Donald signed the complaint.

Six motorists were fined this week by Magistrate Chesbro. Mrs. Anne D. Merritt, 92 Gullick Road, paid $10 for speeding. Robert J. Solomon paid $5 for making an improper U-turn, while fines for passing "stop" signs were paid by Mrs. Joan C. Baker, Mt. Lucas Road; Mrs. Louise Smith, 627 Kingston Road; Mrs. Lucy M. Russell, 75 Alexander Street; and Mrs. Martha Ford, 30 Battle Road.

In Lawrence Township, Manuel Alba of Province Line Road, was caught in a chase that involved an ambulance and four police cars, with Alba covering Lawrence Road to Harney's Corner at 73 miles an hour. The ambulance crew followed him first, radioing for assistance, from Lawrence Township police, with the five vehicles finally hemming him in after he had jumped the sidewalk and struck a mail box.

Fined $150 and without his license for a year, Alba will spend three months in the workhouse through inability to pay. He told Magistrate Casimir Bugdal that "I was scared because the ambulance crew was after me," adding, "I couldn't stop the car."

Paralytic Rescued, Two patrolmen and two neighbors dramatically rescued a 61-year-old paralytic from the second story room in which he was trapped as fire gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Whiting at 24 Leigh Avenue Saturday shortly after noon.

Township Patrolman Tony Nini and Borough Patrolman Frank McGuire, together with neighbors Fred Burrell and John Baldino, formed a human pyramid to the back porch roof to rescue Mrs. Whiting's brother William Richardson. They smashed the bedroom window and passed Richardson from man to man to the ground before the arrival of the fire engines.

Mrs. Whiting, who was in the house with three nephews, Marshall, age 5, Baron 4, and Leslie Richardson 3, spotted the fire and ran to a neighbor's house.

to the phone the alarm at 12:03 p.m. Mrs. Whiting and her nephews were able to escape from the house without injury.

The flames mushroomed quickly through the two-story structure and Mrs. Whiting had no chance to return to her brother. Fire Chief Charles J. Rocknak said the cause of the fire, which started in the cellar, was undetermined.

Mr. Richardson was taken to Princeton Hospital and placed in an oxygen tent for relief of smoke poisoning. He was released Monday afternoon. Damage to the Leigh Avenue home was estimated at $10,000. It took two hours for the firemen to extinguish the blaze.

Miscellaneous. The figure for debt service in the borough school budget for 1955-56 is $141,452.

approximately $98,000 more than last year and not $54,000, as was reported here last week. It should also be pointed out that the $70,000 increase in salaries will cover both increments to present personnel and the amount to be paid additions to the staff.

News of the Churches

Shopping Center Church? Residents of Princeton and vicinity who live near the Shopping Center have expressed interest in the establishment of a community church in that area, according to results of a survey made by a group of Princeton Baptists.

Under the auspices of the Baptist committee, teams of Seminary students directed by Dr. J. Christy Wilson of the Seminary faculty, polled 2,000 homes in the area bounded on the south by Nassau Street and on the east by Kingston. The students asked residents to answer a short questionnaire concerning their church affiliation and their interest in a community church.

The committee now plans to present its findings to the state Baptist organization and ask for its support in backing a new church. Presumably the first step would be to establish a Sunday School and arrange for the services of a minister. If such a church were founded, it would be operated by Baptists, but open to members of all churches.

According to the survey, most residents of the Shopping Center area are Presbyterians, with Roman Catholics, Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists and other smaller denominations following in that order. About 50 homes have no church affiliations.

Organists Guild to Meet. "Present Day Music Education for the Ministry" is the theme of a special public meeting of the American Guild of Organists to be held at Princeton Seminary Chapel next Wednesday at 8:30. Dr. David H. Jones of the Seminary will speak, and the Seminary choir will sing.

Union Services. Dr. William L. Tucker, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, will be in charge of Vesper services this Sunday at 5 p.m. in the Chapel of the First Church.

In the evening at 8 p.m., the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, pastor of the Witherspoon Church, will speak on the subject "We Are Well-Off," Gordon Loos of the First Church will be soloist. The service will be held at the Witherspoon Church.

Mission Study Group. "India and Pakistan" will be the subject of the program for the Women's Guild of the Second Presbyterian Church at the meeting scheduled for next Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Social Room. Mrs. Gertrude Berger will give the worship service.

Mrs. Charles Scott, church secretary for Missionary Education, will describe the work of the missionaries in India and Pakistan. Mrs. Walton Van Winkle, secretary for Foreign Missions, will exhibit her collection of native Indian objects, explaining their meaning and use.

REGULAR SERVICES

Methodist. "John's Testimony to Jesus" is the 11 a.m. sermon topic for this Sunday, to be given by the Rev. Charles W. Marker, pastor of the church. The Wesley Foundation and the Youth Fellowship will meet on Sunday at 7 p.m.

Lutheran of the Messiah. The Rev. Milton J. Nauss, pastor, will speak on the subject "Doing the Unusual" at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services this Sunday. Bible Class and Sunday School will meet at 9:45.

Christian Science. The Lesson-Sermon for this Sunday at the 11 a.m. and 8:15 p.m. services will be "Life." Sunday School will meet at 11 a.m. and the regular mid-week testimonial meeting will be held at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday.

With a Career

Notice the restrained almost whispered suggestion of waves flaring at the back of the head. Severe simplicity motivates this translation of the plateau top, which contrasts demurely with the occipital feminine beauty given to the lifted sides at the temple line, while discreet wisps of loose curls soften the hairline at the high forehead.

Our highly skilled operators are prepared to interpret this or any other of the many high fashion hair styles in which we specialize.

Music in Princeton

MCCARTER THEATRE

The Societa Corelli is well worth listening to for three reasons: the group of strings and piano blend into a homogeneous entity and stimulate a single instrument; the musicianship of the ensemble is first class; and rarely-heard good music is performed.

The Societa's program at the McCarter Theatre night opened with the Concerto Grosso in D major, Opus No. 1 of Corelli. This Concerto was excellently performed as it was constructed. Most of Corelli's Concerti Grossi are not only musical gems, but are also significant for their influence on the Concerti Grossi of Handel and Bach. This influence is quite apparent when one listens to Corelli's Concerti.

Vivaldi's Concerto for Cello and Strings in E minor, Opus 14 No. 5 was not as compositionally strong as Corelli's work. It should not have been programmed immediately after the Corelli piece.

The cello soloist, Silvano Zucchi, gave an impassioned performance that was seriously marred by his often indelicate, raspy tone, the result of uneven bowing.

A Sonatina in Four Tempi for piano and strings by Franko Mannino was well rendered by the group. Unfortunately, the good musical ideas in the work did not compensate for its shoddy form, stylistic ambiguities and poor piano-string integration.

The second half of the program was by far the best. Vivaldi was represented again with a Concerto Alla Rustica which was much superior to his previously given Concerto. Corelli, too, was again represented by a Sarabanda-Giga-Badine.

In this piece and the two which followed—Marcello's Introduzione-Aria E Presto and Benjamin Britten's Simple Symphony—the fine abilities of the ensemble were forthrightly demonstrated. The technique, subtle shading and precision demanded in these works was admirably present. Marcello's work was equally well performed and the brilliant Presto of his composition was repeated as an appropriate encore.

Britten's Simple Symphony is intentionally unoriginal. But the lack of innovation in the work is totally irrelevant. More important is the ingratiating naivete, charm, lyricism and wit which abound in the work. The musical ideas are all appealing, are arranged cleverly for the instruments and are ordered with a certain symmetry and fine musical form.

The Societa Corelli must be commended for outstanding artistry and for a policy of programming contemporary music that is not often performed together with rarely-heard music of the 17th and 18th centuries.

ANDERSON CONCERT

Marian Anderson, one of America's most renowned singers, will perform here on Monday, January 24, in McCarter Theatre under the sponsorship of the Friendship Club of Princeton. With all lower priced tickets already sold, only about $2.50 and $4.00 tickets are left at the University Store (tel. 3333).

Proceeds from the concert will go towards the various local charitable activities, including scholarships, which the Friendship Club supports annually. The committee for the concert is headed by Mrs. Bertha H. Brandon, club president.

PROCTOR HALL CONCERT

Shirlee Emmons, a young American soprano, will present the third recital of the current Proctor Hall series this Sunday at the Graduate College. The concert will begin at the new time of 8:15 p.m. Sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton, the concert is open to the public without charge.

Phyllis and Richard Post, Jr. of Robbinsville, N. J., members of the Upper Monmouth 4-H Baby Beef Club with their prize-winning Aberdeen Angus steers.

We've got a beautiful beef coming

Bam's has a very vital interest in how things are going "down on the farm." We went to the 16th Annual New Jersey Baby Beef Show and Sale in Atlantic City a few weeks ago, and we couldn't have been more pleased when we saw two members of the same family carry off prizes. We have a very vital interest in families, too. We bought the Potts' prize-winners right on the spot—1995 pounds of choice baby beef. We congratulate Richard, 10, and Phyllis, 15. The old adage runs: "It's the eye of the feeder that fattens the cattle." And as you can see by their magnificent steers, both brother and sister have a magnificent feeder's eye. We wish them many, many more prize-winners.

Insignia of the 4-H clubs symbolizes Heart, Head, Hand, and Health. New Jersey has 705 active 4-H clubs, with 10,600 members.

News of the Theatres

McCARTER THEATRE

In contrast to Thursday's opening night performance, when a premiere normally makes most of its news, "Tonight in Samarkand" drew considerable added attention at the McCarter on Saturday. Very possibly for the first time in the theatre's 26-year history, a matinee was cancelled 20 minutes after curtain-time and when the evening show went on, the feminine lead was played by the understudy.

Chile's Felicia Montealegre, fell victim to this country's 24-hour virus and shortly before noon Saturday found herself utterly unable to appear. Margaret Feury stepped in, but because she had been primarily a general understudy for all four female parts, needed more than a scant two hours to prepare for the lead.

The matinee accordingly was regrettably cancelled, with a two-thirds full house filing out after the announcement, but by 8:30 Miss Feury was ready. While this department was not on hand, reports are that she gave a highly competent performance. McCarter's management reports just two promptings during the long, intricate play.

Both management and the company of "Tonight in Samarkand" expressed thorough appreciation for the courtesy and understanding extended by Saturday's two audiences, as well as for earlier patience shown Thursday and Friday nights while the unusually complex third act set was being readied. "Princeton's pleasant attitude toward both the anticipated and the unforeseen problems encountered in staging a premiere is rarely duplicated in the theatre" was the general consensus after the somewhat hectic weekend.

Because the banks were closed Saturday and insufficient funds in proper denomination were at hand for complete refunds, matinee ticket holders now have a choice. They may either ask for their money back or will be given the best seats in the house for the January 22 matinee of "The Tender Trap." For details of such an exchange and of the recent Broadway comedy coming here, see the advertisement on page 18.

From Princeton, it's Boston for a fortnight, Baltimore for a week and then Broadway about February 1. Expectations are that "Tonight in Samarkand" will receive a mixed but generally good reception, particularly if further pruning from the French original is prudently accomplished at the next two way stations.

To cater to the Gallic nature, the play takes frequent detours down the highways and byways of gentle philosophizing. It gaily introduces characters who not only devote considerable time to such a traditional French pastime, but whose presence onstage lends little or nothing to advancement of the plot. It was not, accordingly, due entirely to a 27-minute intermission while the third act set was hung that Thursday night's performance ended at 11:55.

The play has one fundamental weakness that it may never overcome, although the frequent intensity of its plot may gloss it over. Given a carnival setting and atmosphere, it fails almost totally to create the earthy sort of showmanship exhibited in every waking hour by true "earnies" the world over. Abetting this, among other things, is Louis Jourdan's sartorial elegance: he is undoubtedly the only carnival crystal-gazer to appear as if he had fallen prey to Nassau Street's top haberdasheries.

Jacques Deval's drama deals with pre-destination in a manner that should serve to hold the attention well, particularly when pace and timing become topflight. Based on the legend of a lethal lady who was surprised to see a certain man in one city because she had an appointment with him that night in Samarkand, the story builds well to a climax that hinges on a 13-day difference between the Christian and Greek Orthodox calendars.

Foretold for death on her birthday (March 24) when she is scheduled to sail on a liner destined to strike a floating mine, Miss Montealegre (as lady tiger-tamer) fulfills her fate when she goes with her husband on April 6. The latter date is March 24 on the calendar that governed her birth in Greece.

Mr. Jourdan (costumes notwithstanding) is both appealing and accomplished, lending polished charm to the romantic role of the carnival swami in which he heads the cast. In some contrast, Miss Montealegre seemed a touch ill at ease in her role; she had stepped into it to replace Mai Zetterling, who walked out on the first day of rehearsal, but still presumably had ample time. Past the premiere and her attack of virus, however, she can be expected to provide Mr. Jourdan with the quality of acting he deserves from a feminine lead.

The supporting cast was completely competent, if occasionally extraneous as previously mentioned. The sets were unusually artistic and complex, twice requiring complicated changes within an act and keeping the stage crew in the McCarter for almost a continuous 48 hours before opening night. "Tonight in Samarkand" is a large-scale under—Continued on Page 18

Coming Attraction. "The Tender Trap," a documentary comedy of a bachelor's love life on Manhattan's "Upper East Side" which has just concluded a Broadway run, will open its road tour here at the McCarter next weekend, playing Friday and Saturday evenings and a Saturday matinee. Ticket information will be found in the advertisement on page 18.

Kent Smith will be in the Robert Preston role, while K. T. Stevens will be seen in the part created by Kim Hunter in the original production. Mr. Smith has been released by Helen Hayes from his role in the City Center revival of "The Wisteria Trees" in order to take the part in "The Tender Trap." Russell Nype will also be starred, while Janet Riley and Joey Faye have been retained from the original cast.

The comedy is by Max Shulman and Robert Paul Smith. It was produced by Clinton Wilder (Princeton Class of 1943), nephew of Thornton Wilder, and has already been sold to MGM for film production.

PRINCETON TELEVISION

"Princeton '55" came up with what might be called an "outstanding attraction" of educational television in the presentation of "The Enjoyment of Poetry" by Professor Lawrence Thompson and Robert Frost last Sunday.

Mr. Frost's rugged countenance is a kind of marvel in itself, and the joint presentation was highly effective. The dramatic reading of "The Witch of Koas" (with Mildred Dunnook outstanding) was an exceptional feature, and the total program left the thought that there should have been more time for "The Enjoyment of Poetry."

Next on the series (Sundays at 3, Channel 4) will be Professor Arthur Mendel on "The Instruments of Bach's Orchestra." The show will be remoted from the Metropolitan and musicians will play a Bach composition with the instruments of his time and then with instruments used today.

FILM CLASSIC SERIES

The 18th Film Classic Series sponsored by Group Arts comes to a close this Friday with showings of "The Southerner" at 7 and 9 p.m. in 50 McCosh Hall on the University Campus. Tickets at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children may be obtained at the

THE PLAYHOUSE

Carmen Jones (Jan. 12-18) has a stack of raves for a brilliantly produced version of Bizet's opera
—the Billy Rose version with Oscar Hammerstein lyrics. The transition from the classic opera to a modern story of factory workers is such that "Carmen Jones" really has to be considered completely separately. The fine acting by Dorothy Dandridge, Harry Belafonte, Pearl Bailey
and others in the all-Negro cast is backed by splendid singing.
CinemaScope and color. Playing for a week.

Three Ring Circus (Jan. 19-22) puts Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis in a most natural setting. The combination of their fun-making and lively circus scenes should make this an entertainment package for most anyone. Jerry is a clown, naturally, and a classic
one. The cast includes Joanne Dru, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Wallace Ford, Elsa Lanchester, and the entire Clyde Beatty circus. Vista-Vision and Technicolor.

THE GARDEN

Fire Over Africa (Jan. 14-15) is a fairly dreadful little fake about present day smuggling in Tangier. Maureen O'Hara and Mac-Donald Carey struggle around with a staggering plot, set against a Technicolor background. Playing with it is the film "This Is Your Army," a documentary of training under combat conditions.

West of Zanzibar (Jan. 17-18) is a British-made Africa film, containing a good deal of excitement and entertainment, though this particular subject matter has been pretty thoroughly covered in many previous films. Anthony Steel plays a game warden who combats various two and four-footed hazards. Well-made and photographed in Technicolor.

So This Is Paris (Jan. 20-22) is proper fare for the escapists, having a feathery plot which serves as a springboard for many musi-

West. L'Aiglon has several spring or resort dresses, one for $14.95 in white acetate with bands of blue and green posies around its blouse and full skirt.

A charcoal cotton shirtwaist for $17.95 has minute red ditto marks all over it. Black cotton provides the background for a garden of gaudy petunias. The dress has three-quarter sleeves and a low mandarin collar.

Buttercup yellow linen, plain, has orange and brown fish with rhinestone eyes swimming upstream on the belt. Another yellow linen displays embroidered flowers on its collar and the bands of its short sleeves.

For dress up, wear an ice-blue brocade, sleeveless with V-neck and sheath cut. Melon-colored lace or white lace over blue make two sheath dresses. A flowing georgette is pale pink with a red velvet belt on top of its full skirt, and a sleeveless separate top.
With it you wear the loops of red wooden beads that came with the costume—all for $24.95.

It rains — well, try a London weatherproof reversible in gabardine and tweed. A trench coat with matching hat ($5 extra) will make you look like a foreign agent.

Under it all, rain or shine, try a blue (pink) nylon ticot slip trimmed in lace for $5.95. Vanity Fair makes it. An aqua shorty gown has its own matching

Queen Size. Looks like a cigarette package at first, though it seems a bit thick. Look again:
it's a panty girdle by Perma-Lift, folded into a cigarette size box to — well, put in your purse, if you're so inclined. It rocked us for a minute. You can examine one at Bailey's, 14 Witherspoon, and buy one there for $2.95.

Fine white cotton batiste, the choice of many women for under-garments, has been made into a slip that features a shadow panel all the way around. Sanforized, it costs $3.95. A nylon petticoat has four tiers and tiny, stiff permanent pleats in each tier.

On the dress racks we like a Kay Winsor cotton with nylon that fooled us, it resembled silk so closely. Comes in gold, violet and pale aqua in a classic cut.
Pink wool makes a princess dress with low torso line and plain round neck. Sleeves are three-quarter, price is $10.95.

For puddles, we are most enthusiastic about the Goodyear shower boot, a flat rubber sole with treated gabardine upper that ties around the ankle for dryness and warmth. The shoe can be cleaned and re-treated for water-resistance. There is a medium heel style, too, but it seems to us that the flat one would take all heels. In navy, black with red rubber, or beige, the boot is $3.95.

Sports in Princeton

Busy Saturday. The only January weekend of full sports action coming up on the calendar, with hockey and basketball heading a busy afternoon and evening on Saturday. The fencing and wrestling teams will also be active in Dillon Gym for those who like variety in their athletics. Princeton's improving hockey team tackles Brown at 2 in Baker Rink, The Rhode Islanders figured to give Harvard a good run for the Ivy title this season but got off to a poor start at New Haven last week when their ace goalie, Dave Halvorsen, was ill and could not play. Yale ranked up a 2-1 triumph in a rough affair marked by several fights.

The basketball team takes on Harvard at 8 in the Gym, hoping to do better this season against last year's cellar-dwellers than the even break which the Crimson gained. The visitors have split with Brown and lost to Cornell and Penn, although holding the Quakers to a two-point margin at Cambridge.

Columbia will provide the opposition in both fencing and wrestling. The swimmers will take on a Dartmouth outfit at Hanover, while John Conroy's squash players invade Annapolis.

Hockey Team Improving. A 6-1 triumph over Providence and a 3-2 victory over Dartmouth marked a definite upturn in the hockey team's fortunes. Its record in intercollegiate competition prior to that was 1-3, but a definite willingness to play hard, driving hockey paid off last week.

From a scoreless tie in the opening round, the Tigers went on to score three times in each of the last two periods against Providence. The only score the visitors made came when they withdrew their goalie with 46 seconds to go in the second period.

George Hackel and George Seragg, centers on their respective lines, exchanged a pair of shots. The first period was marked by 16 minutes in penalties dealt out to the Tigers, including one of ten minutes for misconduct to wing Roger Bnoocsek, but Providence could not score.

At Hanover a year ago, Princeton was swamped by a 9-0 count. Last week, the young Tigers (only two seniors are on the squad) took charge from the outset, twice breaking away from a 2-0 lead and holding on to their 3-2 margin during a final hectic 25 minutes. With the score tied at 2-all and 15-minutes of the second round gone, the Orange and Black had two players in the penalty box. Seragg intercepted a pass that took out on a solo dash, with Gordon Russell, Dartmouth's 150-lb. goalie, blocking the shot but losing his balance.

Seragg chased the puck into the left corner and centered it, the disc hitting the now prostrate Russell. When it caromed neatly into the cage, the Tigers had the winning goal and Bill Van Alstyne in the nets defended it beautifully.

Frdman scored for the first time in his varsity career, slanning in a hard shot at 9:25 of the opening period on a pass from Johnny Butsch. The Green tied it up late in the same round but Princeton went ahead again less than a minute later on a goal by sophomore Kim Townsend.

With the visitors two men short at 5:32 of the second round, the Indians deadlocked the count. Seragg's winner came ten minutes later to put the Tigers in a first place tie in the Ivy standings.

The line that he centers with Townsend and Butsch on the wings had itself quite a week. Over four periods the last against Providence and the three against Dartmouth—this trio accounted for five goals, and as many assists. A trip to West Point to play Army Wednesday preceded the Brown game. The team will be idle after Saturday's affair until the 29th.

Better Basketball. Forty-eight hours after losing its sixteenth straight basketball game, Princeton came home for the first time in a month. The familiar surroundings broke the spell, that had been haunting the Tigers as they rode to a relatively easy 62-50 triumph over a Dartmouth quietest that had won seven of its eight previous starts.

It was largely the defensive touch so valuable in other seasons and so absent this year, that returned to aid the Orange and Black. Cappy Cappon's forces led in rebounds over the Indians, 46 to 26, with Bud Haabestad and Johnny Easton accounting for three more between them than the entire Green contingent. Easton was also responsible for numerous steals that led to a series of Princeton fast breaks.

For the second time in league play this season, Junior John DeVoe was high man, dropping in 18 points in the first 20 minutes and ending with 24 before he fouled out. Four players had two or more points, with DeVoe and two on each team were charged with the limit of five personals in a contest that was very inconspicuously refereed by Dallas Shirley and Steve Honzo, a pair of newcomers to the Ivy League of finishing tanks. Haabestad chipped in with 18 and sophomore Don Davidson continued to impress with 13, including seven of eight fouls. He is one of the few 6-4 players you are likely to see go in for driving lay-ups, with the result that accuracy on the free throws he draws is a vital asset.

It was a ding-dong affair throughout the first half, al—

though the Tigers took the lead after 5:01 at 11-10 and were never headed thereafter. They once held an eight-point lead during the first 20 minutes, settling for a 34-29 advantage at the intermission.

The outcome hinged largely on Princeton's tight defensive play in the second half. While the Tigers calmly potted fouls—five in a row to open this round—they held the Indians to a mighty meagre three field goals in the first 17 minutes of play. As a result, the visitor's output for the contest was 16 points less than any team had scored against the Princetonians this season.

From a 39-29 lead, the Nassau quintet moved steadily forward, building up a 52-37 advantage by 10:47. Dartmouth coach Doggy Julian stayed with his original five for almost the first 35 minutes. The Green was badly outclassed in the second half, but is a young, improving outfit and should give most league opponents plenty of trouble on its own floor.

Team Fades at Penn. At the Palestra, Princeton was in the ball game throughout the first half, although it trailed by seven at the intermission, and during the opening minutes of the second. Thereafter, Penn pulled steadily away, paced by the 32 points that Bart Leach, Quaker forward, tossed in.
His accurate shooting helped the victors achieve a fine 48% average from the floor.

The Princetonians were in front four different times during the first half, falling behind by 46-39 when the period ended but staging an immediate comeback. Sophomore Don Davidson, John DeVoe

and Dick Batt led the rally that gave the Orange and Black a 49-48 advantage.

Penn then regained control,
Leach and center Joe Sturgis sinking three consecutive foul shots to give the home forces the lead for good. Throughout the rest of the contest, their advantage averaged around ten points. The final was 83-75.

Davidson's nine baskets of 17 shots taken gave him a fine performance for the evening, while DeVoe also had his best night of the season, throwing in 22 points.
Batt with 11 and Captain Bud Haabestad with 14 were also in double figures, but Haabestad was held to two free throws in the second half.

Exclusive of this week's Yale-Brown game, these are the current Ivy League standings:

	W.	L.
Cornell	4	0
Penn	3	0
Columbia	2	1
Princeton	1	1
Dartmouth	1	2
Brown	2	2
Harvard	1	4
Yale	0	4

Weekend games include Cornell
at Yale and Penn at Dartmouth Friday; Cornell at Columbia, Penn at Brown and Harvard here on Saturday. The leaders must obviously each win twice to keep from being replaced at the top of the ladder.

Trotman Sets Record. Marvin
Trotman set a new Princeton High School scoring record in Long Branch last Friday night when he tallied 44 points for the Little Tigers, but the markers were in vain as the shore team downed the Blue and White, 91-77.

With 17 field goals and 10 foul shots, Trotman broke the record set in 1950 by Clyde (Buster)
Thomas, who tallied 38 points.
Trotman's season total is now 133
points in four games.

Long Branch players Dick Barbour and Jim Jerri each went over the 20-point mark in pacing the shore team to its second victory in four outings. The PHS loss was its second against two triumphs.

The Little Tigers faced Peddie
on their home court Wednesday and play Hamilton away Friday.
Their next home contest is with Ewing Tuesday afternoon.

Junior Elks in Action. A basketball doubleheader is scheduled for Saturday night in the Witherspoon
School gymnasium on Quarry Street. The principal game will send the Junior Elks against the Eastern Maryland Bombers at 8:30, with a preliminary contest scheduled for 7:15.

The starting five for the Princeton quintet will probably consist of Mary Trotman, Al Terry, Bob Montgomery, Lloyd Banks and John Broadway. Bob Sinkler, a trainer at the University, is the team's coach.

To Protect Your Child After Treatment:

Most of us know the role that moisture plays in the treatment of a child's upper respiratory ailments. For "All-Nighter" humidifiers are in constant demand for the treatment of croup and coughs due to colds.

But what about AFTER treatment?

How many of us realize the importance of home humidification then? To protect your child against the winter-heated dry air.

Remember, adequate humidification (35% to 40%) helps maintain healthy nose and throat membranes—a blockade to cold-causing organisms.

Therefore, when your physician recommends the use of a vaporizer, why not purchase the appliance that will serve TWO purposes. The "All-Nighter" does just that. It can be used as a vaporizer during treatment and as a home humidifier AFTER treatment. See us for full information on home humidifiers designed for any type of heat.

The All-Nighter, $8.95

The Half-Nighter, $4.95
